THIEVES.

[From the Baltimore Episcopal Methodist.]
There is no imputation that a man resorts so frequently as the charge of dishonesty. Scarcely anybody will admit that he is a thief; and singularly enough there is a strong indisposition to use that word except towards the depredators upon the portmanteaus and pocket handkerchiefs and other small portables of the community. For great breaches of the Commandment, palliative terms only are used by polite society. A man who appropriates to his own purposes the funds of confiding parties, is not said to steal, but to commit a breach of trust. He is rarely indicted and sent to prison; and it happens to be, he is the subject of public sympathy, benevolent petition and Executive clemency. Yet the man has done much worse than steal; he has committed a crime much greater. In addition to stealing, he has abused confidence; he has defrauded the heart; he has mortified the self-opinion of those who trusted him; and has done a great deal to shake the confidence of man in man, upon which all the comfort of society depends. The merchant who compounds with his creditors for less than he owes them, and who afterwards becoming well able to pay—does not pay—is not called a thief. He passes well along the way of commercial and social life, and few concern themselves about his lax morality. A rascal who robs the nation is not called a thief, but a defaulter. It would be monstrous to confound him with the rascal who has no regard for property than to steal a handkerchief or a pair of shoes. The open robber, who breaks into a house and carries off a coffee-pot and spoons, is denounced by everybody. Watchmen are loaded for him; criminal courts meet daily to sentence him; and great jails are made strong to hold him. But the cunning stock operator, whose brain is ever busy with plans to frighten you into selling him your property for less than it is worth, or for deluding you to buy his for more than it is worth; the sharp fellow who uses his capital, and credit, and shrewdness, and knowledge, to confound the little properties of the many into his own great swollen fortune—the "operator" who seems to twist away your few pocket dollars or rob you of your traditional teapot; but aims at your fortune, your means of bread—the "Bull" or the "Bear," who enters into a conspiracy with other terrible beasts to get you down and trample you to dust; the honest gentleman who hires a newspaper to lie to you, or a telegram to deceive you—this man is not a robber. No, indeed; he is an "operator"; a millionaire; a hero of Wall Street; a man to be wondered at, and begged from, and honored in the Churches, whose deacons are glad to sit under his table, and gather into the Church-baskets the fragments of the human prey upon which the bloated monster feeds himself and his progeny. There must be something wrong in public sentiment upon these subjects. There is certainly something very wrong in the public conscience. We have come to feel as if we are living among Bedouins—as if all we have is to be kept day by day, through fear and universal distrust. Only the other day, a great custodian of the public money, published a declaration that he had been in office for six months, and had great pride in saying, he had stolen nothing! So that bare honesty of only six months' standing is monumental virtue among some Government officials! And who that knows the history of the times, can deny that the honest man has something to be proud of?

THE POLITICIANS ON THE FINANCES.—We have seen leading Democrats and leading Radicals alike putting forth their views. Mr. Pendleton, of Ohio, one of the brightest lights in the Democratic party, has boldly announced himself as the advocate of the system of alleviation by conversion of bonds into greenbacks—paying the public debt as it falls due with greenbacks. Gen. Butler has presented a paper system less beneficial to the tax-payer and equally unfavorable to the capitalist. Thad. Stevens, some four years since, had in principle taken the start of all the paper-money politicians by contending, that the principal of the Federal bonds was payable in whatever sort of currency might prevail when the time of payment came. Gen. Butler, in explaining himself, declares that he is for issuing a new loan, the interest payable in currency, in the form of "bonds payable at long date, to which all future issues of Government loans shall be assimilated, so as to make one class of Government securities only, instead of the nineteen different classes we now have." The Gen. goes on to say that he further proposes to redeem all obligations of the Government as they fall due, in currency; determined that men who loaned money to the Government when gold was 200 and 250 to 100, shall not now be paid their claims in gold.—Richmond Dispatch.

COLORADO ASPIRATIONS FOR OFFICE.—It is stated that the Radical parish conventions in Louisiana are in many instances nominating negroes as their candidates for the State Convention. In East Baton Rouge, Louis. Francis and Marceline Lange, colored, and G. W. Keegan, white, were nominated by a large meeting composed mainly of blacks. In Rapides parish, G. T. Kelso, colored, is the regular Radical candidate, opposed by Colonel Cupid Brooks, also colored, who is an independent candidate.

We are told by a foreign journal that pine-apples made in Paris from turnips are delicious. The turnips are saturated with an appropriate syrup, which confectioners know very well how to manufacture.

Mrs. Yelverton, who has been so continually in hot water in the London divorce courts, arrived here on Saturday from Liverpool. She comes for "readings," it is understood.

Without making a useless harangue, I will say to my friends and the public that I am now prepared to supply all of their wants in the way of STOVES. It is time lost to undertake to look for anything better than can be found in my store. I have something new in the way of HEATING STOVES, which cannot be surpassed in style, or beauty of design. To one and all I will say that whatever I sell I warrant to answer the purpose I sold it for. I therefore invite my country friends to call and examine my stock of COOKING and HEATING STOVES before purchasing elsewhere, confident that they will not go away displeased. I would also enumerate amongst my stock a fine lot of TIN WARE, of my own manufacture, and made by very experienced workmen; also, TINED SALES, PRESERVING KETTLES, Fruit Cans, Fine Japanese and Painted Ware and Chamber Sets, to which I would call the attention of the public.
